Human trafficking crackdown

Crisis hotline, specialized Crown attorneys, awareness campaign among provincial anti-trafficking initiatives • Ottawa will host a national conference on human trafficking March 29-31

The Ontario government announced a three-year, $1.95-million strategy to combat human trafficking Thursday, and a small slice of the funds will go to the Ottawa Coalition to End Human Trafficking.

A $15,000 grant will pay for a staff member and web-based resources to help victims find the help they need, said coalition spokesperson Christina Harrison Baird.

"They need one quick inroad to services and they need whoever they reach to know where to find all of the things that they need," Harrison Baird said.

Öttawa police Insp. Uday Jaswal, who works with the coalition, said that while prostitution and sexual exploitation grab the headlines, human traffickers also force victims into other work, in construction or as in-home nannies and care providers, for example.
"I'm confident in saying that there are both kinds present in the Ottawa area,' he said. STEVE COLLINS

"Human trafficking is an appalling crime. We are committed to doing everything we can to protect and support victims, vigorously prosecute cases and eliminate human trafficking in Ontario." ONTARIO ATTORNEY-GENERAL CHRIS BENTLEY

Co-workers mourn man killed by truck

Law firm plans private memorial service for fallen colleague Victim was following his regular routine when tragedy struck

A man who died Wednesday after being struck by a dump truck at the intersection of Laurier Avenue and Metcalfe Street was "a quiet, gentle soul," his coworkers say.

"Roland (Weise) was a part of the fabric of the Gowlings family for over 40 years," said Sandra Milloy, general manger of the law firm's Ottawa office. Weise worked in the law firm's mail room. "His duties involved contact with most members of the firm on a daily basis.

"This is a tragic situation. His loss has been felt across the office.'

Weise's family resides in the U.S. and is planning a service for him in Virginia. Milloy said Gowlings will hold a private service for their office on Tuesday.

She said it was a great comfort to Weise's co-workers to know that just after the collision, a woman who worked in a nearby building stayed with Weise while emergency workers were on their way.

"It's been a tough couple of days," Milloy said. "And we're still trying to come to terms with it. It's hit us pretty hard.

Ontario town goes Bata to the future

Inside the visualization and simulation building at Carleton University, grad students are starting to put the final touches on a cutting-edge 3-D computer model that will help revitalize the post-Second World War Bata shoe factory in Batawa,

Architecture students visited the abandoned factory in 2008 and have since began designing proposals of how the village of 300 people can move forward with marketing and redevelopment plans using Carleton's Building

Information Management (BIM) software.

Architecture student Nevil Wood described the innovative 3D mapping model as "Google Earth on steroids."

High-tech laser cameras produced a life-like interactive computer model of how the town looked in the past, what it looks like today, and what it could look like in the future.

"It's easy to get caught up with the abstraction of the drawing," he said, "But with this project, it was really eye-opening," *JOELOFARO*

• Teen in Berlusconi sex scandal wants $20,340 for an interview Says she's 'been hurt so much'

The Moroccan teenager at the centre of the Berlusconi sex scandal says 'all the gold in the world could not make up for the suffering she has endured.

In an email exchange with The Associated Press, the teen nicknamed Ruby the Heartstealer says she has been "treated as a prostitute by all the Italian and foreign media.'

"I WANT TO BE COMPENSATED for having been hurt so much," Rubv. whose real name is Karima el-Mahroug, wrote to the AP in Italian.

Ruby, now 18, requested $20,340 for a full TV interview from the AP, saying: "I don't do anything for nothing."

Italian Prime Minister Silvio Berlusconi was indicted Tuesday on charges he paid for sex with Ruby when she was 17 and underage, then used his influence to cover

The abuse of influence charge relates to efforts by Berlusconi, 74, has denied ever paying for sex. He has dismissed the accusations as "groundless" and said he is not worried by the trial.

Ruby has also denied a sexual relationship with Berlusconi, saying he never "put a finger on me."

But she said he had given her $9,500 on their first meeting. Ruby said at the time she identified herself as Egyptian and gave her age as 24, rather than 17.

The indictment lists 13 nights Ruby spent at the premier's villa outside Milan. It says the evenings were "in exchange for sums of money that were paid in cash by the suspect" or by his account-— or for other gifts such as jewelry. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a sign of how deeply the Sunni monarchy — and other Arab regimes in the Gulf — fear the repercussions of a prolonged wave of protests, led by members of the country's Shiite majority but also joined by growing numbers of discontented Sunnis.

Thousands of people crowded a stadium for safety Thursday after a Tanzanian military ammunition depot exploded and showered the city of Dar es Salaam with a series of blasts Wednesday night and Thursday morning, killing at least 25 and prompting a stampede getaway.

In the mayhem of residents fleeing the blasts, more than 150 children lost track of their parents, and officials appealed for mothers and fathers to report to the stadium to reunite with their offspring.

When the explosions hit, thousands of people living in nearby neighbourhoods fled. Families scattered, separating parents from their children.

Hidan Ricco, the head of Tanzania's Red Cross disaster management team, said there were about 200 unaccompanied children at the stadium, some of whom are only months old. A city official appealed for parents to find their children.

"We can't figure out how these children ended up here," Ricco said. "We don't know where are their mothers."

President Jakaya Kikwete promised an investigation into the explosions, the second fatal military ammo dump explosion in Tanzania's commercial capital in less than two years. An accident at a Dar es Salaam military base in 2009 killed more than a dozen people.

newcomers Canada will be younger, less educated and more fluent in English or French if Ottawa's immigration proposals become a reality.

"It looks like a big part of this is just a shift in source countries," said Mikal Skuterud, a professor at the University of Waterloo who closely tracks immigrants' progress.

Immigration Minister Jason Kenney launched a month of public consultations Thursday on the proposed changes.

He wants to rejig the point system Canada uses.

U.S. flight fee ruffles Canadian feathers

U.S. Department of Homeland Security estimates fee would raise $110 million US in revenue Charging Canadian visitors to enter the United States would hinder trade and travel between the two countries, Prime Minister Stephen Harper said Thursday as a proposed "passenger inspection fee" ruffled feathers on both sides of the border.

Harper's voice was just one of many as Canadians registered their disapproval with the American idea of requiring Canadian and Mexican air and sea travellers to each pay a $5.50 fee every time they venture stateside.

Harper expressed empathy for the U.S. and its dismal fiscal state staggering $14-trillion national debt and annual deficits well in excess of a trillion dollars - but said "additional taxes" on Canadian travellers wouldn't solve anything. "Some 40 per cent plus

Regulator seeks public input on screaming TV ads

No laws in Canada deal with TV ad volumes, though the U.S. and U.K. have rules • More than 600 complaints in past three years

If you think TV ads are annoyingly loud or shrill, the CRTC wants to hear from

The federal regulator has invited viewers to offer opinions on the issue by April 18, with an eye to fixing the problem of com-mercials that sound louder than the programming they interrupt.

Loud ads are a "signifi-cant annoyance," said Konrad von Finckenstein, chairman of the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission.

Last week, Conservative MP Nina Grewal tabled a private member's bill to require broadcasters to ensure volumes match between commercials and the accompanying show.

"It's a common com-plaint. You're watching a program at a comfortable volume, the program breaks for a commercial and suddenly you're jolted out of your seat by the loudness," she said at the time.

Asked about the bill, which will be discussed next month, Liberal Leader Michael Ignatieff said he was sympathetic and the issue "is clearly on the minds of millions of Canadians."

MINUTES WITH: RRY LOGUE

Garry Logue is the Chief Pillow Officer of Pillow Packers (pillowpackers.com), the Ottawa company he started with his wife. Beth Shepherd. They make compact, inflatable travel pillows with either down or microfibre.

How did a couple of retirees find themselves in the pillow business?

In August of '08 my wife and I were on this expedition to the Canadian High Arctic. We've always had this habit of hauling our bedroom pillows with us wherever we travelled. We had a whole piece of luggage dedicated to pillows, so they'd been to Europe, they'd been to the Caribbean, all over the place, but when we got on this expedition to the High Arctic, they said well, you're not bringing (extra baggage). Basically, a glorified backpack was what we were allowed to bring. So we went on this 13-day expedition and it was marvellous, except we were sleeping on basically glorified napkins as pillows. Awful.

The lack of a decent pillow was the biggest hardship you could find in the Arctic? Pretty much. Never mind the parkas and all that stuff. We were talking about pillows. We were missing the basics of life here. We were complaining about sleeping on the Mickey Mouse little things and got told, well, stop complaining and do something about it. So we came home and we didn't even know what we didn't know about getting a pillow made. We started with some protoypes, which we had made here in Ottawa, and then slept on them, got constructive feedback on them and changed the designs. It took us probably about a year and a half to get to the production stage where we were really, really happy with the pillows. Who's your customer for the Pillow Packer?

It's designed for the traveller who, no matter where they're travelling, they want to sleep in comfort and they want to have their own stuff. Even if you sleep in expensive hotels, it doesn't matter how much you pay for the room, a thousand people or more have slept on that pillow. As pillows have taken over more of your life, have you ever had a dream about pillows while sleeping on one? (Laughs) I cannot say that I have ever been chased by a pillow, or you know, an ear-eating pillow. That would be bad, eh? An eareating pillow? You get up in the morning and you have no ears? • steve collins

Worth mentioning

Ice age Britons drank from human skulls and may even have eaten flesh and bone marrow, but they were far from barbarians.

That's the conclusion of experts studying the oldest known examples of "skull cups," found in a cave in southwest England.

The bowls look almost like works of art, ritual items laced with meaning. Look more closely, however, and it becomes clear they are made from human skulls. Scientists say they are the oldest known carbon-dated skull cups, said by experts to be about 14,700

British scientists writing in the Public Library of Science journal maintain the cups were fashioned in such a meticulous way that the only credible explanation for their manufacture is that they were used as bowls to hold liquid. If the hunters and gatherers simply wanted to eat the deceased person's brains, there would have been far easier ways to get at them, scientists said.

Experts believe the rare cups — two made from adults skulls, one from a child thought to be about three years old — were used in some sort of ritual, as was common in many parts of the world. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Will James and Anne shine on Oscar night?

• The Reel Guys debate the interesting selection of James Franco and Anne Hathaway as Oscar hosts

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE & MARK BRESLIN

Richard Crouse: Mark, I have to say I don't really care who hosts the Oscars. For me the show is about the movies, not the hosts. But I think the choice of Anne Hathaway and James Franco is kind of intriguing, especially since Franco said publicly, "If it's the worst Oscar show ever, who cares?" With that attitude he may bring some much needed danger to the pro-

Mark Breslin: Sorry, Richard,

I cannot agree! The Oscar hosts are incredibly important to the show. How else are we going to get through the awards for Best Documentary Short, Best Sound Editing and the Jean Hirshholt Humanitarian Award without a little comedy, a little song and a little dance? Which make Franco and Hathaway interesting choices because they don't do any of those things. Then again, anything has to be better than last year's wheezy Steve Martin/Alec Baldwin duo. The big question is, will Franco and Hathaway open with a Black Swan parody in matching tutus?

RC: I can't say if they'll start things off with matching tutus, but I think it is a safe bet that leading up to the category Franco is nominated in this year, Best Actor for 127 Hours, there will be jokes about how "disarmingly" handsome he is, or how he "single-handedly" made the movie a success. Wait for those groaners. What everybody wants is for Billy Crystal to come back and host. He's funny, he's likeable, he's a movie star — well, he used to be, anyway — and he keeps the pace of the show chugging along at a nice clip. Hathaway and Franco are both capable performers, but will they be able to keep things moving along?

MB: Yes, Billy Crystal could have been made Oscar Host For Life. But I guess he doesn't mean much overseas except for select neighbourhoods in Tel

Hosting tips

Mark Breslin, the founder of Yuk Yuk's, has five tips for Oscar host Anne Hathaway and James Franco to warm up the crowd.

- 1. Open with a Song Always worked for Billy
- 2. Make a self-deprecating joke.
- 3. Go into the audience and talk directly to celebs.
- 4. Do a little dance. Make a little love. Get down tonight.
- 5. Lots of topical jokes about the business — not the art — of the Hollywood movie Aviv. But here's a question: In the Dead Meal Tickets section, which deceased actor will get the greatest applause? Dennis Hopper or Tony Curtis?

RC: The tributes section is always a favourite of mine. but it does often feel as though someone is standing off stage with an Applause-O-Meter judging who gets the biggest reaction. This year? Who knows, maybe Hopper and Curtis will cancel one another out and leave a little love for departed Canadian Corey Haim. Even in death it seems the Oscars are still a giant popularity contest.

Hall Pass stars bond on the set

• Wilson and Sudeikis sound like an old married couple after filming a movie about getting a week off marriage

The Farrelly brothers' latest comedy, Hall Pass, teams up Owen Wilson and Saturday Night Live star Jason Sudeikis as friends given a week off from marriage by their wives, so the two actors knew they'd be seeing a lot of each other. Metro sat down for a chat with the chummy co-stars to talk about the film — and tried to get a word in edgewise.

You guys have a great rapport. It's sort of the —

Jason Sudeikis: (to Owen) I told you!

Owen Wilson: Convince me.

OK, Owen. What did you think was wrong with your rapport with Jason?

OW: Well, no, I think that it was ... Right from the beginning it seemed like, even when we just spoke on the phone, we were going to get along. Also, his schedule is so crazy, having to leave and stuff. He was constantly the new kid. New cliques had formed, and I had to put my arm around him — "Come here! You can still sit here at lunch!"

J5: (to Owen) I remember the first couple weeks, you were like, "God, now I know what it feels like to be from a broken home. Someone goes away and they show up whenever, all willy-nilly."

OW: It really was hard. Like, "God, I can't wait to see Jason ... Oh, he's not here?"

Given your obvious rapport, how was it working with Farrelly brothers as far as improvising material?

OW: They were pretty encouraging for you to try stuff.

JS: Absolutely.

OW: But they definitely wanted to try to get one as scripted, and we could because it was a good, funny script. But yeah.

J5: It wasn't so much improvised like the cameras rolling and you're just burning film. It's usually a discussion.

That muscle gets worked a lot at SNL, so I feel fairly decent at trying to throw my hat in there.

It's tough to just run a can of film and expect gold to come out.

There were too many good, thoughtful writing brains on that set to just blue-sky it like that.

The Farrelly brothers have mentioned you guys played a ### lot of games on set.

ow: They do a game. You know how the newspaper puts people whose birthday it is? He would say whose birthday it was, and then you'd guess how old. And Pete Farrelly dominated.

15: Like in golf scores, the lowest score wins.

Maybe he just sits home and memorizes people's ages.

JS: He was so good at it, you could almost accuse him of that.

OW: He won so much money.

Movie review

Orth watching | Don't bother ee it twice | Yawn @

Number Four not number one

I Am Number Four Genre: Science-Fiction Director: D.J. Caruso Stars: Alex Pettyfer, Timothy Olyphant, Dianna Agron

Isn't it amazing that some movies can fill the screen with action, special effects, and beautiful young actors, and yet somehow still be mindnumbingly boring? I Am

Number Four is one of these special cases, a blatant attempt to launch the next teen-driven fantasy franchise like Twilight The trouble is no one bothered to find source material that will captivate the target audience. Though adapted from a moderately popular novel, work began on the film before the book was published.

Alex Pettyfer stars as a supposedly average teen who is secretly one of the last surviving members of an extinct alien race that is being hunted by another group of aliens. The main problem is that the filmmakers are going for the Spiderman effect of having the audience care equally about the characters' humdrum daily lives and the fantasy world. Sadly, nothing in the "real" sections feel genuine, and the young actors are painfully dull, making this impossible. Sure there are some nice big expensive set pieces, but with no one that the audience can identify with, who cares? PHIL BROWN

Unknown Genre: Thriller Director: Jaume Collet-Serra Stars: Liam Neeson, Diane Kruger

A bit of a twist on The Bourne Identity, Unknown tells the story of one man (Liam Neeson) who wakes from a coma in Germany only to discover someone has stolen his identity. And as if that wasn't bad enough, nobody recognizes him (even his wife) and maniac assassins want him dead. The secret is mostly kept hidden until the film's conclusion but for all its clandestine effectiveness, Unknown feels rather heavy-handed in its plotting. • steve gow

A Wake Genre: Drama

Director: Penelope Buitenhuis Stars: Graham Abbey, Raoul Bhaneja, Sarain Boylan

A Wake is one of those indie films that traps people in an isolated location to bicker with each other until big secrets are revealed. The movies are typically more acting showcases than anything else and while veteran TV director Penelope Buitenhuis entry to the genre is no exception to that rule, it is better than most. It follows a former acting troupe who meet at their director's wake to indulge in sex, drugs, fights and dark revewith the employees of the world's largest garbage dump in Rio de Janeiro. Waste Land works on an almost abstract level as a visual exploration of a blasted, trash-filled landscape as well as an indictment of Brazil's brutal class disparities. ADAM NAYMAN

Top 5 Presidents Day movies

While we don't celebrate Presidents Day here in Canada, it's a great excuse for a presidential movie marathon ◆ Here's a look at five favourite commanders in chief, as depicted on the big screen ◆ And you don't have to be American to appreciate these classic performances

Every possible kind of U.S. president has been depicted on screen: corrupt ones and honourable ones, real ones and fictional ones.

So with Presidents Day coming, it's as good a chance as any to say hail to the chief. Here's a look at five favourite movie presidents.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Henry Fonda in Fail-Safe (1964)

Not that it's surprising, but Fonda is everything you'd want in a president. He's decisive but eventempered, commanding but kind, and he even shows a sense of humour. He is, in short a read any and the state of th short, a good man. And when he has to make the most difficult choices imaginable in the face of nuclear annihilation, he's calm and gracious every step of the way.

Sidney Lumet's stripped-down, gripping drama envisions a world on the brink of disaster when machines fail and the humans assigned to run them are filled with Cold-War mistrust.

Peter Sellers in Dr. Strangelove or: How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Bomb (1964)

Stanley Kubrick's biting political satire allows Sellers to show off his comic genius and the breadth of his transformative powers in not one but three distinct parts: as the proper British Group Captain Lionel Mandrake, the volatile former Nazi Dr. Strangelove and President of the United States Merkin Muffley.

This last role is actually his most subdued — in a room full of mad characters, Sellers serves as the understandably horrified voice of reason.

Kevin Kline in Dave (1993)

One of Kline's best performances in one of the best films Ivan Reitman ever directed and Gary Ross ever wrote. Like Sellers in Dr. Strangelove, Kline has multiple jobs here: He stars as Dave Kovic, a mild-mannered guy who runs a temp agency.

But Dave happens to look exactly like President Bill Mitchell, and is secretly called on to impersonate Mitchell when the president suffers a stroke. Dave makes the most of this challenge, cutting the budget, bringing a new, upbeat tone to the Oval Office and even falling for the first lady.

John Travolta in Primary Colors (1998)

This is a bit of a cheat, because for a long time, Travolta is playing a candidate for president. But he's clearly patterned on Bill Clinton, and Travolta's performance is dead-on.

With the combination of Mike Nichols' direction and his long-time collaborator Elaine May's script, of course Primary Colors is going to be sharp and insightful. But Travolta brings the film to life — and does some of the best work of his career — as Gov. Jack Stanton.

He's charming as hell in that smooth, Southern way, but he's also flawed and self-destructive, with a weakness for women.

Josh Brolin in W (2008)

A rather conventional biopic, but Brolin's so good, he almost makes us feel sorry for George W. Bush. Almost.

He certainly gets the innate humour within the frequent buffoonery — and he's got the voice and the demeanour down pat — but he also seems to recognize the tragedy of this figure, a man who was in way over his head.

Director Oliver
Stone offers a surprisingly fair and balanced assessment of the 43rd president — that basically all he wanted to do was watch baseball
and drink beer all day, and instead ended up being chosen as leader of the free world.

▶ Jeopardy contestants pose with Watson, the IBM-created megabrain, who beat the veteran champs with a total of $77, 147 over two exhibition matches.

Oh the humanity!

Computer whips us at Jeopardy, but there's still a place for people, right?

Machines first out-calculated us in simple math. Then they replaced us on the assembly lines, explored places we couldn't get to, even beat our champions at chess. Now a computer called Watson has bested our best at Jeopardy!

A gigantic computer created by IBM specifically to excel at answers-andquestions left two champs of the TV game show in its silicon dust after a threeday tournament, a feat that experts call a technological breakthrough.

Watson earned $77,147, versus $24,000 for Ken Jennings and $21,600 for Brad Rutter. Jennings took it in stride writing, "I for one welcome our new comput-er overlords" alongside his correct Final Jeopardy an-

The next step for the IBM machine and its programmers: taking its mastery of the arcane and applying it to help doctors plow through blizzards of medical information. Watson could also help make Internet searches far more like a conversation than the hit-or-miss things they are now. Watson's victory leads to the question: What can we measly humans do that amazing machines cannot do or will never do?

What's sizzlin' on the small screen

• With all this terrible weather you've probably gone into hibernation • Why not check out the midseason's new and returning shows to watch while you're cozied up inside

HOT FRIENDS

Matthew Perry and Matt LeBlanc make their return to TV comedy with Perry serving as the self-involved manager of a sports arena in Mr. Sunshine and LeBlanc playing a heightened version of himself in the Hollywoodskewering Episodes. But neither, they realize, can escape the Friends phenomenon.

"I don't think people want to see a character that's night-and-day different than Chandler, but we want to try to do some different things," says Perry, who also had a hand in creating his new series. "So you want to take advantage of that something that worked before, but you also want to show something embracing the past.

"My only reservation was playing myself," he says. " didn't really understand what they meant by that, and they assured me it was not a documentary. And once I got my head around that, it started to become really fun to push the envelope and poke fun.'

Mr Sunshine airs Mondays on CTV. Episodes airs Monday nights on The Movie Network.

HOT CONTROVERSY

"I was really happy and proud to be on a show that represented teenage life to the full extent," Ron Mustafaa, star of the drama Skins, told TV critics. Since its debut, the show has lost numerous advertisers due to its portrayal of teen antics. "We think the real controversy here should be for TV geeks fretting over how much of a copy the show's first couple episodes have been to the original British version," creator Bryan Elsley AMBER RAY SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

wrote on a Huffington Post blog. Skins airs Monday nights on

The Movie Network.

HOT COPS

A police superintendent (Jennifer Beals) and her former partner (Jason Clarke) fight on the streets and up through the The Chicago Code. "I like the idea of approaching crime from the top," says series creator Shawn Ryan (The Shield). "And I liked the idea of approaching it from the perspective of a female character."

The Chicago Code airs Monday nights on Global.

HOT NEIGHBOURS

Lisa Ling travels the country investigating "outsider" culture in America, from sex offenders to drug addicts in Our America with Lisa Ling. "We set out to try and understand or explore what it really means to be an American. And I really feel like this has been the culmination of everything I've ever learned as a journalist," she says.

Our Amerca with Lisa Ling airs on OWN.

HOT COUPLES

Ben (Jason Biggs) loves Kate (Sarah Chalke), but their best friends Connie (Judy Greer) and Larry (Tyler Labine) can't stand each other on Mad Love. And while Chalke, Greer and Labine are sitcom vets, tackling romantic comedy on the small screen is new territory for Biggs.

Mad Love airs Mondays on CBS.

HOT HARVEST FESTIVAL

By setting up an ultimatum this season on Parks and Recreation— Leslie's (Amy Poehler) Harvest Festival has to be a success or the Pawnee parks department will be eliminated—the comedy has become must-see for reasons other than its superb, subtle humour.

Parks and Recreation airs Thursday nights on Citytv.

HOT JUSTICE

Can U.S. Marshal Raylan Givens (Timothy Olyphant) do his job without shooting someone? That would be a mighty feat in this Old Western-style crime drama Justified, especially in Season 2, according to creator Graham Yost. Justified airs Wednesdays on FX and starts this Monday night on Channel.

HOT MESS

In Shameless, William H. Macy plays the drunken, free-loading patriarch of a gazillion (OK, six) kids who are essentially raised by the eldest sister (Emmy Rossum) and somehow remain a loving, functional family. "I've got the role of the century here," Macy exclaims.

Shameless airs Monday nights on The Movie Network

Neil Young

First contact: In the '60s, Young established himself as a solo artist, a guitarist for Buffalo Springfield and a collaborator with Crosby, Stills and Nash.

First change:
Singing in an electronic voice album didn't sound like anything he'd done before.

Big surprise: His follow-up, Everybody's Rockin', was all rockabilly tunes; it was so un-Neil Young that his label sued him for making music unrepresentative of himself. New horizons: As grunge became popular in the '90s, Young was cited as a major inspiration. It seemed to help him reclaim his past, while experimenting further.

David Bowie

First contact: Bowie's 1969 ode to astronauts, Space Oddity, laid the groundwork to show us that this was one weird artist worth watching. For 40 years, he has not disappointed. First change: One of his first ch-ch-chchanges was his invention of the alter-ego persona Ziggy Stardust, whom he used to dress up as throughout the early '70s.

Big surprise: After a decade of artsy reinventions and experiments, in the '80s, Bowie resurfaced with Let's Dance, a slick pop look and sound.

New horizons: Bowie has continued to push boundaries, dabbling in noise rock and electronica with good results.

frontman Robert Plant is the most recent rock veteran to undergo a seemingly effortless transition into another successful phase of his career, with his second bluegrass flavoured album, Band of Joy.

Here we look at the drastic changes he's made throughout his tenure in the music industry and the drastic changes of some of his peers.

Robert Plant

First contact: As the singer for Led Zeppelin in the '60s and '70s, Plant and pals basically define how hard rock should sound.

First change: After Zep's breakup in 1980, Plant made a string of solo albums with a decidedly modern feel, eschewing the emphasis on guitars that made his band such a hit.

Big surprise: Plant's 1985 EP with the Honeydrippers was '50s covers. The song Sea of Love became his biggest hit, which reportedly upset the singer, as he feared he'd be known for this style.

New horizons: Raising
Sand, Plant's first foray into bluegrass with singer Alison Krauss. is a commercial success and wins the Album of the Year Grammy in 2009. This halts any plans of a Zep reunion tour.

Arcade told to parlez Francais

○ Fete Nationale organizers say Arcade Fire can perform — but not in English

They may be the toast of the music world but, if they ever want to play the Fete Nationale celebration in their own hometown, Arcade Fire won't be allowed to do it in English al's Fete Nationale celebration say the band would have to sing their songs in French, like any other act playing at the festival for Quebec's annual holiday.

The chief organizer said Wednesday that the Grammy-winning band would be welcome to play the June 24 event if they wanted to.

"As long as they conform to certain guidelines," Luc Savard, director general of the event, told The Canadian Press.

When asked whether those guidelines included not singing in English, and performing in French instead, Savard replied, "Voila."

The question of whether Arcade Fire will attend is actually moot for this year: the group will be touring Europe this summer, and Savard says this year's acts are already booked anyway.

Arcade Fire does include the occasional French line in its songs but the band, and its U.S.-born frontman, sing almost exclusively in English.

When they took to the stage at the Grammys they expressed thanks, in English and French, to the city of Montreal and later gushed to reporters backstage about their love for the place.

After winning the bestalbum Grammy this week, the group went on to England where they were named the top international band at the BRIT awards. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sound Check ALAN CROSS SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

WHY DO WE STAND FOR BAD SOUND?

Beginning in the late 1940s, we've been told to upgrade to a new type of music playback medium every five or six years so that we are able to experience better sound.

f you're brave enough to step into my basement, you will find CDs, LPs, 12-inch singles, cassettes, a couple of 8-tracks, a pile of DAT tapes, assorted MiniDiscs, some rescued concert recordings on 10-inch reel-to-reel tape and probably a couple of 78's.

Under the stairs is a pile of 12-inch Laserdiscs that I'm willing to let go cheap. (I'll even throw in the player!)

The International Standard Organization has approved the algorithms that make music as MP3 files possible in 1991. Twenty years on, the public's love affair with the format's convenience seems to know no end.

We're firmly into the digital age. Global digital music sales reached $4.6 billion in 2010, which equals about 30 per cent of all sales by record labels.

The MP3 rules. But despite the severe high-fidelity shortcomings of MP3s, most people seem completely happy with what they deliver. (The same goes for Apple's AAC format, which is what you get when you buy a song through iTunes.)

Although technology used in today's hard drives keeps driving the cost of storage lower and lower, few music consumers seem interested in switching to a better sounding codec like FLAC. A song ripped to FLAC is about four times larger than when ripped to MP3—but if you've got the room, who cares?

Outside of hardcore audiophiles, no one seemed bothered that the public is listening to music with sonic qualities that are substantially worse than what we heard from vinyl 30 years ago. I find it strange — and rather depressing — that while we continue to demand bigger and better HD and 3-D TVs, few people are demanding that the audio quality of their music gets better.

Carmen is a Country & Western singer who has returned to Montreal from Nashville and begins to write her own songs—about real people and real problems, all in a language they understand. Soon she becomes an inspiration for the oppressed; their sun, their idol, their voice. However, a question arises. While it may be good to "wake people up," what do you do with them once they are awake?

Created in 1976 on the eve of the referendum, Saint Carmen of The Main is one of Michel Tremblay's most important plays. Set in the nightclubs on Montreal's infamous St. Laurent Boulevard, known locally as "The Main," the play unfolds as a twentieth century "Greek tragedy" with its underworld goddesses and heroes, monsters and myths, exploring the nature of revolt, rebellion and cultural identity.

Quick Facts About Michel Tremblay

- 27 of his 36 plays have been translated into more than 30 languages
- In 1999, he received the Governor General's Performing Arts Award
- He has received some 20 awards and honours in Canada, France, Italy, Belgium and Scotland.

Though no one knows better than I that you can't judge a wine by its looks, that hasn't stopped me from being a closet fan of eyecatching labels.

If a winery has put some effort into its front panel (and by effort I mean some ingenuity that doesn't look like it was birthed by a team of business suits). I'm curious to find out if the juice delivers the same wow factor.

That's what initially intrigued me about Kilikanoon Wines' 2007 The Lackey Shiraz ($17.95 - $19.99). I was drawn to the Aussie wine's strikingly simple black and white label, which displays its name in rustic bold letters and a haphazardly dropped pair of Blundstone boots.

Ruutu gone, more deals likely

Bryan Murray was active on the NHL trade front again Thursday.

The Ottawa Senators GM completed his third trade in less than a week, dealing left-winger Jarkko Ruutu to Anaheim for a 2011 sixth-round draft pick. And with his club languishing in last spot overall in the Eastern Conference standings, Murray said he's not finished tinkering with his lineup heading into the NHL trade deadline Feb. 28. "I don't think so," he said during a conference call. "I've had a variety of calls on different people so I think at some point we know we have to keep a core of players here because some of the kids that are possibly going to play on the team next year aren't available to us

"There are other people I'm talking to about other people, so I suspect that there will be a couple more, at least."

Murray has started rebuilding well ahead of the trade deadline, sending forward Mike Fisher to Nashville and forward Chris Kelly to Boston in separate deals over the last week.

35, Ruutu, had 10 points (two goals, eight assists) and 59 penalty min-utes in 50 games this season with the Senators.

Calgary cold snap forecasted to dissipate in time for Sunday's game

Today's horoscope

T Aries March 21-April 20

Someone you meet on your travels over the next 24 hours will become not only a friend but also a collaborator in some kind of creative project. There is a chemistry between you.

¥ Taurus April 21-May 21 The planets indicate that if you have a plan and if you make a serious effort to put that plan into effect there is nothing you cannot accomplish. Self-belief is necessary, too, of course.

II Gemini May 22-June 21 The Sun in Aquarius has endowed you with no end of confidence, and you're going to need it over the next few days. Today though, you should take a trip of some kind. You'll think better when on the move

Gancer June 22-July 22

There is no point trying to convince yourself that everything is fine when all your senses, including your sixth sense, are telling a different story. Something is bothering you and the time has come to deal with it.

 Leo July 23-Aug.23 A full moon in your sign will help overcome any embarrassment you might feel at revealing your innermost feelings. Even if you are the kind of Leo who rarely gets emotional, share what's in your heart.

TV Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 You have begun a lot of new things since the start of the year but how many of them mean much to you? Give it some thought throughout the day.

sensitive to criticism. If you hit back at people whose opinions you don't much like today, there could be a falling out.

→ Sagittarius

Nov. 23-Dec. 21 You'll have no problem letting others know what you think and feel — the full moon in Leo compels you to speak your mind. Don't forget that words, like actions, have consequences. Think before you open your mouth.

り Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20

You may or may not come into money over the next 24 hours, but you will certainly be thinking about your finances. Whatever you decide, avoid aet-rich-auick schemes.

Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 If you focus your energy in a single direction today you might achieve something remarkable. There can be no more doubts and no more wondering if you are making the right move. Don't think - act.

H Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 It's time to get rid of a fear that has no basis in reality. It does not matter what caused it, it matters only that you grow out of it. Start living with purpose. SALLY BROMPTON
